WHAT IS CLAIMED 15:

. 5

A method of controlling the communication
television programming at a television transmission	station said method comprising the steps of:
and the second s	:

receiving television programming from a plurality of television programming sources;

receiving programming communication instructions designating for each unit of television programming at least one from the group consisting of:

- (a) an output channel to be used in communicating said unit of television programming; and
- (b) the time said unit of television programming is to be communicated; and communicating each unit of television programming from said transmission station to at least one subscriber according to said programming communication instructions.

- 558 -